Altiplano, Yecla

This large country house (295 m) has a lot of character and would suit a family that likes nature but does not want to be too far away from a town. It has 5 good sized bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, a kitchen and a living room with a large fire place for the chilly winter evenings. The house also has central heating which is quite unusual for a house like this. There is a large garage and plenty of storage room and a beautiful terrace, that offers shade during the hot summer months. In the past, there was a large pool, but the owner preferred not to have a pool so has had it filled in. The garden size is just right and easy to maintain. There are fields of olive trees and almonds all around the property. Yecla is not far from the house, so you would have the best of both worlds. Yecla is in the region of Murcia. The most important mountains of the locality are Sierra de Salinas , Monte Arabí, Sierra de la Magdalena , and others. The chief buildings are a half-ruined citadel, a modern parish church with a pillared Corinthian facade, and a town hall standing in a fine arcaded plaza mayor (square). Yecla has traditionally had a thriving trade in grain, wine, oil, fruit and other agricultural products produced in the surrounding country. Since the second half of the 20th century, furniture making has become a local trade.
