Altiplano, Jumilla

A one off opportunity to own and re create a piece of Spanish history in the heart of the Vinolopo wine region. This property was once a working bodega, with a build size of 800m2 with so much potential to build a stunning country house or create a business opportunity. this property is semi detached. It is situated in a small village close to the town of Pinoso . There are stunning views of the surrounding valleys and mountains of Pinoso. The upstairs has very high beamed and curved ceilings and could easily be transformed to a fantastic living space. The possibilities for the ground floor are endless, there are many of the original features still in place such as the olive stone press, 2 original wine pits which could easily be converted into storage and an original oak wine press and metal press. There is also a very large original ancient well with a lovely arch feature, this could be made into a fabulous dining area or a unique music auditorium with acoustics from the arched ceiling or indeed an indoor swimming pool or jacuzzi. This property has the potential to be converted into a superb restaurant or unique bed and breakfast or just restored to its former glory utilising the original features still in the property. This is a rare opportunity and would be the envy of all friends and neighbours when restored. This is a definite must see property which will not be around for long
