Inland Almeria, Vélez-Blanco

If you are looking for the authentic Spanish atmosphere, for the typical friendliness of the Andalusian people who are always open for a chat, then Topares is definitely the place for you. This village, belonging to the municipality of Vélez Blanco, is in the middle of the 'granary' of the region. With views of the foothills of the Sierra María los Velez and the fields where plenty of grain is grown, Topares is an oasis of peace. In the small village, people know who their neighbours are and they really care for each other. Where else can you find something like that? In this beautiful Spanish village there is a neat house waiting for you. It is a terraced house of which the roof has recently been renewed. So you don't have to worry about that anymore. You enter the house in the living room with a fireplace where you can easily place a wood stove. If you walk to the right, you will enter the first, spacious bedroom. Lots of natural light comes in through the windows. If you turn left in the living room, you will enter the bathroom with space for the washing machine, toilet, bathtub and shower, and the water heater. On the ground floor you will also find a double bedroom, the kitchen and the dining room. The kitchen is simply furnished but offers plenty of opportunity to create a beautiful, modern kitchen. On the first floor, you will find three more spacious bedrooms, which you can decorate to your own taste. This village house is spacious and very good value for money. If you want to live in a beautiful, authentic Spanish village where you still have real contact with your neighbours, then this property is definitely worth viewing.
