Stunning Plot with Ruin and Panoramic Views A Unique Development Opportunity This breathtaking plot of land offers a rare opportunity for those with vision and a passion for transformation. Nestled in a serene location with spectacular, uninterrupted views, the property includes a ruin that, with the appropriate permits, could serve as the foundation for a restored home or a brand-new build. While planning permission has been granted in the past, these licences would now need to be renewed or reapplied for. However, the precedent offers a promising starting point for future development. If you're searching for a project to truly make your own, this could be exactly what you're looking for. Whether you dream of a tranquil country retreat or a striking modern home in nature, this land provides the perfect canvas.
