Charming Village Cave House with Stunning ViewsCortijo Del Cura, Granada Province€120,000 2 Bedrooms 1 Bathroom
Located in the tranquil and picturesque village of Cortijo Del Cura, this beautifully finished cave house offers a rare combination of traditional charm, modern comfort, and breathtaking panoramic views. Spacious Outdoor Living
One of the homes standout features is its generous outdoor space. A tiled terrace with both open and shaded seating areas looks out across the valleyperfect for morning coffee or sunset dinners. In addition, a large gravelled area providesA garageA wood shedAmple space for gardening, additional seating, or recreational useIt's an ideal setting for both relaxation and outdoor living. Thanks to a clever layout built around a central light tower, this home enjoys an abundance of natural light, something rarely found in cave houses. Sunlight pours into the living room and kitchen, creating a warm, inviting atmosphere. The main bedroom features windows on two walls, making it bright and comfortable. The second bedroom is spacious and well-proportioned, and there is potential for a third bedroom by converting the current dining room. A separate office just off the living space could easily serve as a nursery, creative studio, or reading nook. The kitchen exudes local charm with traditional Andalusian tiles, lattice-fronted cabinets, and elegant granite worktops. The bathroom combines rustic character with modern design, featuring a walk-in shower framed by glass blocks to enhance the natural light. On cooler days, a log-burning stove set into a stone-clad chimney breast provides warmth and character. The property also benefits from a modern solar-powered hot water system, keeping energy costs low while maintaining comfort. This delightful cave house has been finished to a high standard throughout, with thoughtful design choices that blend old-world character and modern convenience. Whether you're looking for a peaceful full-time residence, a charming holiday getaway, or a unique rental investment, this home has it all.
