RURAL HOTEL IN THE MOUNTAINOUS HEART OF ALICANTE. QUATRETONDETA is a mountain town in the interior of Alicante, which is surrounded by beautiful landscape riches. But before showing you the surrounding treasures, let me give you a brief description of the town. Currently it has a population of less than a hundred inhabitants whose work activity is fully dedicated to the cultivation of olive trees and their oil production, as well as almond trees. Its people are friendly and simple, standing out in their hospitality, the old-fashioned way. As a curiosity, 7 kilometers away in a small town called Gorga, is the oldest olive tree in Spain, some 2000 years old. Also from Quatretondeta, there is access to the rocky formation of a forest of needles in the shape of friars, of spectacular dimensions. It is considered by many to be the Montserrat of the Valencian community We present this Fabulous Hotel which is constructed of a total of 4 buildings that make up 2000m2, plus a 1500m2 parking lot.
