Detailed Property Description

This stunning home is designed around a central landscaped courtyard, the heart of the property, where a beautiful private pool is surrounded by mature plants, a shaded porch, and an outdoor kitchen with fireplace – an ideal space for dining, entertaining, or enjoying the warm Andalusian climate.

The solid iroko wood main entrance door and double-glazed wooden windows enhance both the property's aesthetic appeal and its thermal efficiency. The large front porch naturally cools the house and offers pleasant outdoor living throughout the year.

Inside, the entrance hall preserves its original mud-brick walls coated with natural mortar, maintaining freshness and structural integrity. The kitchen combines charm and functionality, featuring a traditional oven-fireplace, a dedicated pantry, a window overlooking the courtyard, and high-quality appliances.

The ground floor includes a comfortable living room with two distinct areas for seating and dining, along with two well-proportioned bedrooms and a full bathroom.

The upstairs level is dedicated entirely to a luxurious 45 m² master suite, offering a spacious bedroom with high wooden ceilings, a separate dressing room, and an elegant en-suite bathroom – a perfect blend of privacy, comfort, and Andalusian warmth.

Authentic touches such as handcrafted tiles, terracotta flooring, and soft ochre and white tones create a stylish, serene atmosphere throughout the home.

A Home That Blends Tradition, Comfort, and Lifestyle

This remarkable property is ideal as a permanent residence, a tranquil countryside retreat, or a charming boutique-style holiday home. With excellent access to Albox and the Mediterranean coast, it offers the perfect balance between rural serenity and everyday convenience.
